From the Arts Commission

Sept. 2, 1926.

To the Honorable the Common Council:

Gentlemen—In 1925 the Arts Commission purchased from Mr. D. M. Ferry, Jr., a lot on the north side of Fransworth Street between John R street and Brush street to be used for a power plant.

Later on a contract was entered into with the Detroit Edison Company for the furnishing of heat to the new Art Institute and we no longer require this lot for Art Institute purposes.

In the meantime, the house which was on the property and which made it an income property, was torn down and removed.

We therefore, concur in the recommendation that it be returned to the original owner, Mr. D. M. Ferry, Jr., at a price of $16,500.

Respectfully yours,
CLYDE H. BURROUGHS,
Secretary.
